

Questions for Mike

What technology do you need to set up a video like the one Jeff used here, and how much does it cost? How long can it remain on your web site? Does it take up lots of computer memory to download it to your computer? Is there a limit on the length/number of minutes it can be? Can you make it as large as an entire page instead of a few inches square?

Is there a basic set of steps to start using audio and/or video?

Where do you see the audio /video media going as far as implementing them on blogs and sites

how do I get free stuff to do this

How to set up your a/v studio inexpensively. Just what do you really have to have to get started?

What software are you using to produce this?

Is there a service available that will record a webinar, just like available for Teleseminars, that eliminates the need to use a Edirol box and equipment that connects to the phone when recording phone conversations during webinar? I am looking for an easy solution to place recorded webinars online.

What is the future of live and prerecorded streaming video on the web? And how does one set up now for this relating to equipment (hardware), systems including back-end and software needed
(1) Practical options for preventing

Questions for Jeff

Should you submit all your articles to as many places as possible or should you have some that you write for specific websites that have a fairly high page rank?

What type & how many visuals should a writers use with their audio/video article marketing?

Do you need to make articles unique in some way when you are submitting them to different article sites? How much different?

how to integrate both; how to upload articles easily

Article Ideas

I have been putting together articles with other peoples content from on line article sources. I have not published them because of my concern regarding copyrights. What are the rules? If I attribute the information to them but sell the product under my banner, do I still owe them a piece of the action?

How do you survey your friends about what they really want to learn about in your niche

What are the best and cost effective services will allow me to submit articles to many destinations?

What's the best way to create audio products and podcasts from articles? Duh, I suppose you could just read them into a mic, but any other tips?

unauthorized downloads of pay for play video content; (2) Best flash video transcode settings for today's 'typical' internet user (Vid-Frame-Bit-Rates + Aud-SamplFreq-Bitrate-Mono-vs-Stereo. Thanks.

Can we use a video that we shoot and combine it with screen capture from Camtasia and put that all on one video?

Can we take a commercial video (or any video for that matter) from You Tube where they offer the link to embed, and put it on our blog or website?

I just had a video reach page 1 in the #2 position at Yahoo. The same video is not yet on Google is something I need to do different when I submit the video?

How do you put your green screen video of me talking over the background video I created or screen shots with Camtasia Studio? Thanks

How can I generate web traffic with videos?

How do you link audio to video in the best way? Even if there is sound on the video

I want to know the best hardware and software to buy to record and edit audio and video.

What is the easiest way to record quality audio for a low cost?

Mike the flip camera is good?

Mike, I bought the Flip Video Ultra on your recommendation. I like it..It's fun and easy but when I upload videos to youtube.com they look bad. i.e. Poor color, and pixilated. But when I watch the videos on the software for the flip they are nice and clear videos. How do I get the same quality video on You Tube using my flip?

What camera and equipment did you use

Where do you send your articles for article submission?

why is articles still so important with emphasis on audio & video

I've written some excellent articles and would like to get them on the web.

Best methods for marketing with articles?

do either of you teach simplistically and easily how to technically develop and maintain a website so that we can have a place to post our articles and audio/video clips?

How do you carve out time in an impossibly busy schedule to ACTUALLY DO THE WRITING OF ARTICLES???

How to integrate them...

Should I use a "cart" service? How do I capture emails most efficiently?

What is behind your cafe idea?

What do you recommend for the newbie to get started with audio, video, and articles that they should get to make life easier (more doable) and keep costs reasonable for a startup

how to monetize

how do you suggest we turn our articles into videos without going broke?

Can you use audio as a promo for your article or ebook?

for this video that I just watched? Great quality. Just bought Mike's equipment. Thanks for all of the instructions. I'm hoping to set things up tomorrow. By then I'll have more questions

Best mike under $200

What can you do if your video camera doesn't have a slot for an external mike to get decent audio for your video?

Mike, explain what all is needed to capture and upload to a Wordpress blog a video? I have the light snake and the pro 70 AT mic and a Vaio laptop. Also, are there specific Wordpress plug-ins you recommend for a basic blog that includes video?

What is the best format for You Tube video recording?

What type of camera did you use for the video telling about the call?

Need to understand why podcasting is so attractive to people? I've seen on a couple of blogs that podcasting is available for the exact article that they are reading. Is it because people are too lazy to read? Or do people listen to see if the person says exactly what is written on the article that they are reading? Or do you say something completely different than the article? And having video along with an article? That would be an interesting concept for article marketing. How would you make that work?

Not a question - just really looking for the most basic overview of adding audio and video to a website without spending a ton on extra equipment or software programs.

Can I host video on my own website, or do I need to use Videogenerator or something like that?

Putting audio on e-mail

When should we use audio and video?

I am launching an e-magazine to the classic travel trailer crowd and was wondering about doing something (I think) similar to what you are. Basically I'd like to know what your thoughts are about using 5-8 minutes of audio or video of both to "brand" myself with my niche in the e-magazine once a week. I think of it like a radio show but maybe with video. Your thoughts?

When is the best time to use video rather than audio.

Is Audioacrobat the best way to go?

Mike said once audio can work better than video, if people want to look at your site while you talk. Any more on that? Testing I guess is the answer . MP3's are my favorite to listen to at work!